DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed on June 20, 2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claims 4-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 4, line 2, "the pivotal axis" lacks positive antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Story, pn 1,010,704.

Story discloses a razor with every structural limitation of the claimed invention including guiding members (e.g., the upper portion of 14 and 17 as viewed in Fig. 3) and a blade (e.g., 15), a grip portion (e.g., 26) pivotal about a pivot axis (e.g., 22 as viewed in Fig. 3), wherein the location of the pivot axis is adjustable to different locations on the blade assembly and can be fixed in two or more locations or positions (e.g., by moving threaded member 13 with respect to 20 through varying degrees of tightness such as by rotating 13 with respect to 20 180 degrees in either direction; or by moving/adjusting the handle to adjust the pivot axis to different locations as shown in Fig. 2), and wherein the blade assembly can hinge around a pin (e.g., 13; or 27), which pin is attached to the grip portion (e.g., via 20, 22, 23; or directly), wherein the blade assembly is provided with means for engaging the pin (e.g., either the bottom surface of 12, or 21; or 23, 25), and wherein the means for engaging the pin comprises clamp means (e.g., 23, 25).

In the alternative, if it is argued that there is no disclosure of such a function, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to make the invention, particularly the pertinent features thereof from a pliable material that would allow such action for various well known benefits including the availability of such material, the reduced cost of such material, and the likely reduced weight of such material.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 7 and 8 appear that they would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed June 20, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Regarding applicant's arguments in the last paragraph on page 5 of the subject response, the Examiner respectfully disagrees with applicant's analysis.

First, it is emphasized that claim 1 has been amended to broaden the claim, wherein the "characterized" recitation which was part of and further limited the recitation "wherein the pivot axis is positioned parallel to said cutting edge" has been deleted and a separate/independent limitation has been added that requires the pivot axis to be adjustable to different locations which could also include locations where the pivot axis is not parallel to the recited cutting edge (e.g., as shown in Fig. 2 of Story).

Second, regarding applicant's arguments directed to the previous rejection, it is emphasized that the Examiner's position is not that Story discloses the same functions or is used in the same manner as the present invention, but rather that Story discloses all of the structure of the claimed invention.

Therefore, for at least the reasons described above, it is respectfully submitted that the prior art rejection must be maintained.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
